Incorporation: A Time for Decision

Included in this week's issue...

Mammoth Voters to Decide Incorporation

by Nicholas Renton

Incorporation and a first town council for Mammoth Lakes head a Tuesday, June 5, ballot that will include one supervisorial race in addition to state and federal offices and propositions for Mammoth voters.

California's presidential primary, party races for the House of Representatives, State Assembly and Senate and nine state propositions will also go before the voters on election day.

In Mammoth, ballots will offer measures A, B, C and D—the four items necessary for Mammoth's incorporation as envisioned by members of the Local Agency Formation Commission.

Measure A, vital if incorporation is to succeed, would confirm a LAFCo recommendation adopted by the Mono County Supervisors Jan. 24 that Mammoth Lakes incorporate. The new town would encompass an approximately 25-square-mile area including Mammoth Mountain Ski Area, the Knolls, Mammoth Pines, Mammoth Meadow, Old Mammoth, the proposed Sherwin Bowl Ski Area, the Gateway, much of the Mammoth Lakes Basin, and the central business and residential areas.

The arrangement of town council elections is undertaken by measure B. It calls for at-large elections, whereby voters within the entire municipal boundaries can choose any candidate who lives in the city boundaries. This is instead of district races, where candidates could only run in their own electoral district, which would be one of five separate

by Ziba Rashidian

Eight of the nine candidates vying for seats on the first Mammoth Town Council squared off for the first time Tuesday, May 29 at candidates' night sponsored by the Mammoth Chamber of Commerce.

Discussing their qualifications for office were Barbara Campbell, Gary Flynn, Terry Gardner, Boyd Lemmon, Greg Newbry, Richard Paust, Roy Saari, and Alice Watkins. Sandra Medina was unable to attend the meeting, although she submitted a written statement.

Gary Flynn faced challenges on rumored campaign contributions and a potential conflict of interest between his position as president of the Mammoth Chamber of Commerce and serving on the town council if elected.

Audience member Steve Maris asked Flynn if there was any truth to the rumor that his campaign received a $3,000 contribution from the Dempsey Corp. Flynn and campaign committee treasurer Rick Liebersbach said the highest contribution his campaign has received from one source was $500. He said his committee has raised a total of $2,500 for the campaign. Flynn said the committee's financial statement is available for public scrutiny and is on file in Bridgeport.

An audience member also asked Flynn if he foresaw a conflict of interest between duties as a council member if he is elected and remaining president of the chamber of commerce.

"Yes, I do see a conflict and if elected I would resign as president of the Mammoth chamber and as a member of the Mono County Chamber," Flynn said.

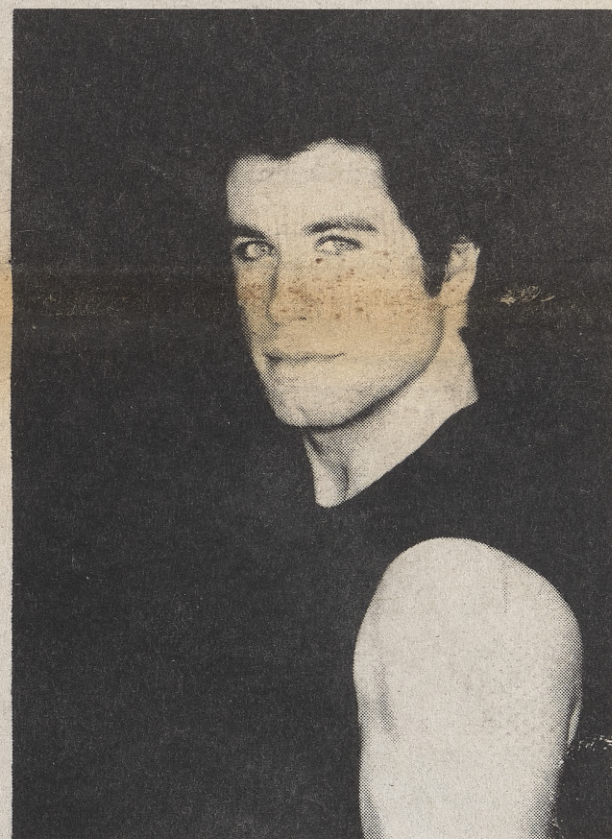

Sparks also flew when council candidate Richard Paust alleged that three of the candidates were in favor of raising the sales tax to finance the resort association proposal.

Paust alleged that Flynn, Newbry and Watkins had all made statements of the need to increase the taxes.

Flynn said Paust had picked up that idea from his comments at a coffee earlier this month. Flynn said he had been discussing the funding for the association with one of his suggestions being increasing the business license fee instead of relying on voluntary contributions.

Newbry said he felt increasing the sales tax could be a method of financing the association, but noted it would require a two-thirds vote of the registered voters in the area and an extensive public hearing process.

Attorneys to Tackle Juniper Ridge Parcel

by Ziba Rashidian

Two Mammoth attorneys will work with Mono County Counsel Ron Braden in hammering out the Juniper Ridge Development agreement.

Last week, Mono Supervisors appointed Neil McCarroll of Mammoth Lakes to act as special counsel on the Juniper Ridge project advising the supervisors, the planning commission and the nascent town of Mammoth Lakes on the project. The board allocated up to $3,000 to cover the attorney's legal fees.

The supervisors took the action after receiving a letter signed by eight of the nine candidates for Mammoth Town Council. In the letter, the candidates requested that an independent attorney be appointed to represent the interests of the town in the negotiations with Senior Corp., the Florida-based land bank that owns the 59.16-acre Juniper Ridge parcel.

The appointment of McCarroll as special counsel, however, meant he would be representing both the county and the city in the negotiations on the development agreement for the project.

According to McCarroll, discussions with Braden after the board vote have prompted a change in the special counsel arrangement. McCarroll said he will now be an associate attorney to Braden. The Mammoth attorney added that Myron Blumberg, another local attorney, will be working with McCarroll on the development agreement for the project.

"We came to the conclusion that it would be in the best interest of both the county and the new town that the terms of my appointment be changed so that I would be associate counsel advising the county counsel of the concerns of the new town relative to the development agreement," McCarroll said of his conversation with Braden.

Forest Service Accepts Lesser School Site Bid

by Nicholas Renton

The Forest Service accepted the $835,000 appraisal on the 8.75-acre site for Mammoth Unified School District's new elementary school Wednesday, removing a threat to MUSD's time line for construction of the facility.

Two weeks ago, the Forest Service had rejected the recommendation of its own regional office in ordering the appraisal, the lesser of two made on the site, reviewed.

MUSD officials, fearing a higher appraisal could delay the new school, traveled to Washington, D.C., May 21-24 to lobby against the review with Mammoth's legislators: Rep. Richard Lehman, D-Sanger, and California Sens. Pete Wilson and Alan Cranston.

The Review Endorses Mammoth Incorporation

After several attempts dating back to 1966, the question of incorporating Mammoth into a town finally reaches the Mammoth voters on Tuesday, June 5.

This election marks the first time that the incorporation issue has gone as far as the ballot box. The other incorporation efforts did not gather enough signatures to put the matter before the voters.

The signature campaign, which took place for one week in front of the local post offices last summer, was an overwhelming success. Almost twice as many of Mammoth's registered voters as were needed signed the petitions.

Now, nearly a year later, Mammoth voters will be able to turn those signatures into votes for incorporation. We urge a "yes" vote on all four incorporation questions:

- Incorporation of Mammoth Lakes.
- Elections at large.
- Name of the town.
- Appropriations limit.

In order for incorporation to pass, voters must approve the incorporation question and the appropriations limit.

What incorporation means to this community is a chance to have, once and for all, local control. Mammoth has two supervisors on the five-person Mono Board of Supervisors. District 3, which is made of Old Mammoth, June Lake and

HOW TO VOTE

The same public inventory survey system that told you how to tell a Mammoth "local" from a phony flatlander has returned to help you pick a town council! Yes, the Mammoth Local's test's top researcher will help you with this simple survey to explore your feelings so you can pick the candidates you can live with. WARNING: If you don't read Martin on Mammoth, you really won't like this stuff!

1. If you believe Fourth of July parade experience as a "passed-away pet" qualifies one as a candidate, read Box A.
2. If you believe the Mammoth school board should be telling the town council what to do, read Box B.
3. If you believe incorporation will, in the long run, save you tax dollars, read Box E.
4. If you believe Bridgeport is closer to your home than Mammoth, read Box C.
5. If you believe someone who never gives up trying to get a political position by running for local office should finally be rewarded, vote Box D.
6. If you believe that it is possible to have too much local control, see Box C.
7. If you believe it is OK for a candidate to take financial contributions for a local campaign, read Box F.
8. If you believe a local candidate can run simply for the satisfaction of providing local service to his/her community, read Box L.
9. If you do not believe Mammoth needs more recreation for its local youngsters, read Box G.
10. If you believe Mammoth should have an official "Mammoth Song," see Box K.
11. If you believe saying you are a Bishop High School graduate is a good strategy for the councilman campaign, see Box I.
12. If you believe experience on the Sierra Summer Festival committees is good experience for city government, see Box H.
13. If you took this survey of your attitudes and beliefs, thinking it really would help you in voting, read Box M.

- ☐ A. Good! We're glad to see you know what a real politician looks like! (plus 50 pts.)
- ☐ B. If you checked this box, it shows you know who is the real boss in most Mammoth households. (plus 50 pts.)
- ☐ C. You may be a member of the Mammoth Hospital Board and know what you are talking about. (plus 35 pts.)
- ☐ D. You also feel Nixon is getting ready for a comeback, don't you? (plus 50 pts.)
- ☐ E. You've probably discovered a bunch of federal tax write-offs...and you think they'll work with local taxes too. (minus 150 pts.)
- ☐ F. We also hope you believe that a local candidate shouldn't hide behind the $500 campaign disclosure rule. (plus 100 pts.)
- ☐ G. You also have no kids, or believe your 13-year-old when he says the reason he smells funny is because he was burning up some old rope in the back yard with his friends. (minus 100 pts.)
- ☐ H. You're probably right, but tell us: do you have trouble balancing your checkbook every month too? (subtract or add points equal to the amount your checkbook was off last month)

- ☐ I. You haven't heard how our MHS girls have done in Queen IMA competitions. (minus 25 pts.)
- ☐ J. Have you? (no plus or minus points...you probably haven't lived up here long enough to vote anyway)
- ☐ K. We know who you are going to vote for!!! Tell me, would you also be interested in an official city cartoonist? (plus 50 pts.)
- ☐ L. You probably also believe your candidate when he says he doesn't look at himself in the mirror. (minus 300 pts.)
- ☐ M. Please don't vote so the few of us left who believe in the democratic process can keep what little faith we have. (minus 500 pts.)

How to Total Your Points

If you can't add your points up by yourself, but know which candidate can help you, we'll let you vote anyway.

If your points come out on the plus side, we only hope you do as well with your candidate's choices.

If your points come out on the minus side...would you consider moving to Bodie? They may want to start a township any day now and may need some potential candidates.

Our Position on the Council Candidates

Nine candidates are running for the Mammoth town council. But for five candidates to become our first elected civic leaders, the incorporation initiative must be passed by the Mammoth electorate.

After much soul-searching, The Review has decided not to endorse any candidates for the town council. We have chosen this path for several reasons.

One is our perception that no black-and-white differences have emerged among the nine candidates: Barbara Campbell, Gary Flynn, Terry Gardner, Boyd Lemmon, Sandra Medina, Greg Newbry, Richard Paust, Roy Saari and Alice Watkins.

Granted, there are different personalities and styles; but the differences on the issues are not compelling enough for us to endorse any candidates.

In addition, because this is the first town council race, there are no "records" to run on. None of the candidates has held elective office before. Many Mammoth voters will be voting election day on the strength of name recognition and the one or two personal contacts made during the campaign.

We will feel comfortable with whoever is elected on Tuesday, June 5. Mammoth is fortunate to have such qualified individuals willing to serve on the first town council.

Incorporation: A Mixed Bag for Mammoth

by Ziba Rashidian

The proposed formation of a town of Mammoth Lakes represents short-term hardships and long-term benefits for Mono County.

In the short term, the county faces a budget shortfall and at least a couple of years of fiscal austerity. In the long run, the formation of the town will help the county, providing an increased tax base without the responsibility of providing services.

If the incorporation measure is passed by Mammoth voters June 5, county officials are projecting a $1.2 million to $1.4 million shortfall for the 1984-85 budget. After Aug. 20, 1984, a plethora of revenues previously flowing into the county coffers will go to the new town. The problem is aggravated by a state mandate requiring the county to continue to provide services to the newly formed town through the end of the fiscal year, or June 30, 1985.

Mammoth Resident Found Dead; Investigation Begins

by Nicholas Renton

A Mammoth Lakes man was found dead in a garage Friday evening, May 25.

Steve Scruggs, 30, was found in the garage of Mammoth resident James Pietrowski on Convict Drive, after what investigators believe to be an unattended death sometime during Monday, May 21.

Mono County Chief Deputy Coroner Bud Johnson said there is no suspicion of foul play in the death. The cause is unknown pending the results of toxicological tests and other physical evidence in approximately one week, Johnson said.

Wake and funeral services for Scruggs were held Wednesday, May 30, at St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Scruggs was interred in Bishop that same day.

The likelihood that the incorporation measure will be passed by the voters has prompted a budgetary juggling act by the county over the past two months, comparable to the activity that followed passage of Proposition 13 in 1978. Proposition 13 left the county with a $1.5 million shortfall. The budget was balanced that year with no cuts in personnel or difficult curtailing of services.

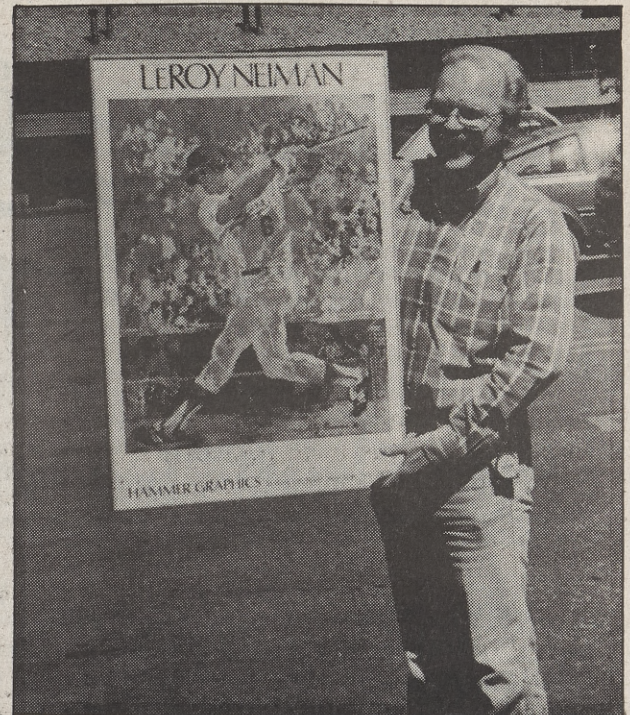

The proposed county budget for 1984-85 is slated to go to the printers Thursday, June 7—two days after the incorporation issue will be decided by Mammoth voters.

County officials are reticent when discussing the austerity measures in this year's budget, although they will say the budget, in its present form, contains no program for personnel layoffs. According to County Administrative Officer Nick Poppelreiter, the budget does tap several pots of money that have been accumulating for a number of years such as the community college fund. That fund presently stands at the $600,000 mark.

"Incorporation does not generate new revenues so much as it changes the distribution of existing revenues," consultant Bill Zion remarked in his report on the impact of the Mammoth incorporation on Mono County.

It is the redistribution of tax dollars during the 1984-85 fiscal year that has prompted concern at the county level. The Zion report estimates the county will lose about $2.48 million in revenues while experiencing a decrease in the cost of providing services to the community of $1.71 million. By Zion's estimate this means the county will have to trim about $767,048 from its budget. County officials' estimates are higher than the consultants' and include the price tag of providing services during the initial year of incorporation.

In the long run the county stands to benefit from the formation of a town of Mammoth Lakes—both financially and politically. From a financial standpoint, the county will benefit from not having to provide services to the community and from property taxes. As property valuations go up and new construction occurs within the community, the city's share of property taxes remains constant—around 15 percent. The remainder of the tax is distributed among the county, county schools and other special districts.

The impact on the county will also be softened after the first year of incorporation since the county

INCORPORATION OPINION: We Support It...

Lee Vining, is represented by Paul Johnson. Old Mammoth is only 29 percent of Johnson's constituency.

If there is a "bad apple" on the board who lives outside Mammoth, it is hard for Mammoth residents to instigate a recall measure outside the community. But with incorporation, all five town council members will have to answer to Mammoth. Besides, we are "recall-trained" following the recall of Al Leydecker last November.

As a town, Mammoth would be in line to receive state and federal funding available to cities that is otherwise not available to county governments. It is a political fact that state and federal legislators, for the most part, come from incorporated urban areas.

Only two of California's 58 counties do not have an incorporated city inside its boundaries: tiny Alpine County and Mono County.

Is Mammoth big enough to be a "city" or "town?" Certainly, if you compare our population to Amador city, a small city of 250 persons 50 miles east of Sacramento.

From the a ledger standpoint, incorporation makes financial sense. Because Mono County would have to "carry" Mammoth until the new fiscal year—July 1, 1985—Mammoth would begin that fiscal year with a $1 million "nut" in the bank.

Mammoth residents could expect improved services from several areas:

- A professional city manager would manage the city departments. That city manager would work in Mammoth, instead of Bridgeport, 60 miles away. He or she would be responsible for Mammoth, and not an entire county.

- Mammoth's town council can concentrate on Mammoth's problems, instead of having to worry about balancing its interests with those in Benton, Lee Vining or Walker.

All planning decisions would stay right here in Mammoth. Again, Mammoth residents would decide their future, right here in Mammoth.

We strongly urge a "yes" vote on all four incorporation questions. Our future, our livelihoods, our recreation depend on it.

Weather Forecast

Record-breaking warm temperatures and very dry weather last weekend were followed by cooling during midweek. Several low-pressure areas spread around the West Coast; moist subtropical air combined with weak frontal activity, bringing cumulus build-up, gusty afternoon winds and cooler temperatures to the Eastern Sierra Tuesday and Wednesday. Weak ridging over the Pacific Northwest should once again bring a warm weekend, although slightly cooler than last weekend.

FORECAST: Thursday: Mostly fair, with a chance of scattered clouds and gusty southwest winds over the higher elevations. Highs—low 70s; lows: 40s. Friday-Saturday: Fair and warmer, light westerly winds. Highs—upper 70s; lows: 40s.

Mammoth Lakes Chamber of Commerce

CABOOSE CORNER

by Chris Johnstone Wedeking

We made one of the world's biggest boners in our newsletter. We're so embarrassed! A billion thank yous to the Rotary Club for all the hard work at the auction. They were a vital and integral part of the event and we sincerely apologize for the omission.

Every once in a while we switch hats at the chamber and become the "complaint department." We don't receive many complaints—about 20 to 40 a year, depending on the weather. Most of the time we receive only copies of the complaint that was directed to the "complainee."

Because we are the only quasi-governmental entity in town, we are frequently called on to settle disputes. The chamber is not in a position to take direct action on grievances, but our knowledge of a grievance and what assistance we can provide has had very positive results.

We thought you might be interested in hearing some of the complaints. In many instances, they are easy to solve.

The biggie, of course, is parking citations and/or towing due to lack of signs (lack of reading the signs that are posted), weather, etc. The second largest complaint is about accommodations. It is surprising to note that about 90 percent are from people not adhering to cancellation and deposit policies. The balance of the lodging complaints are: 1. The unit wasn't clean; 2. Lack of reading lights and/or bulbs missing or burned out; and 3. plumbing problems.

The third largest area of concern was about transportation and/or the lack of it.

Hopefully, knowing about past complaints will help avoid potential problems. The larger concerns can be solved by working together as a community toward our ultimate goal: an enhanced healthy economic and socioeconomic base to benefit all.

Night

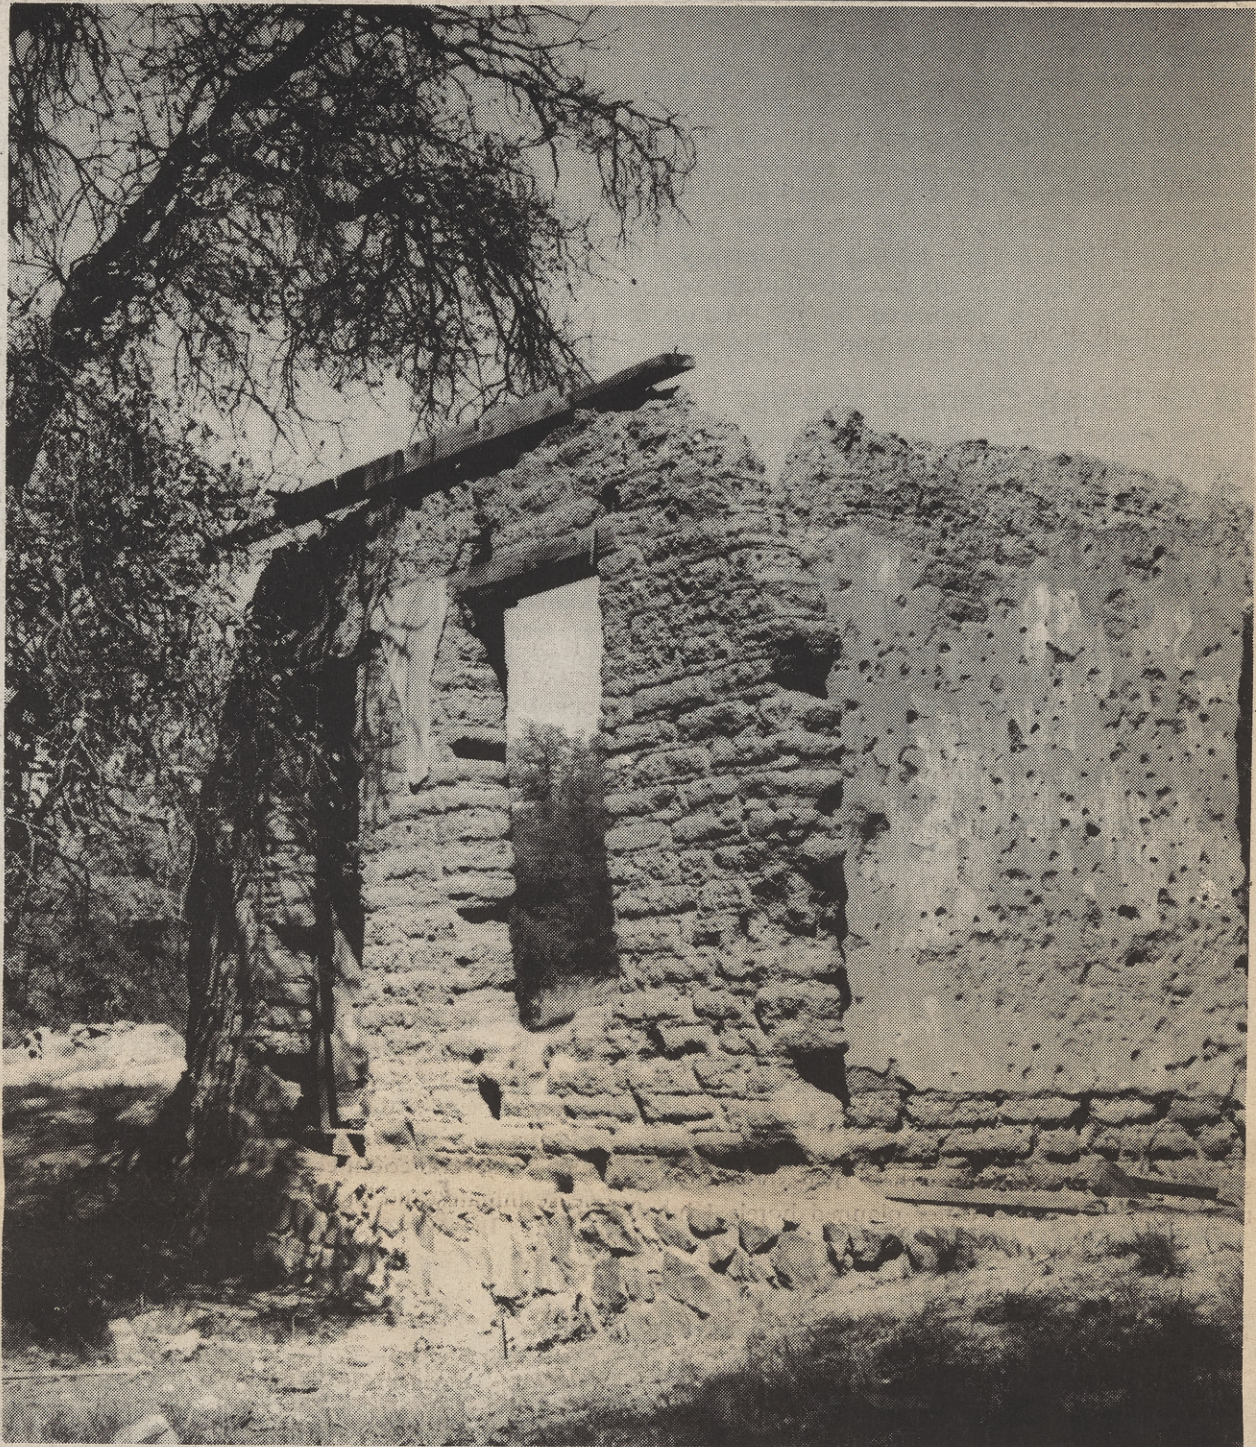

with Buddy Noonan

Along with his success at mining, Mowry was also a good writer, speaker and politician. He became a delegate to Congress simply by pointing out that he was the only individual applying for that position. While running for office, he presented a flowery speech regarding Arizona's natural resources. In it he made repeated references to the state's abundant game and fish. Edward Cross, editor of The Arizonian, a newspaper in Tubac, didn't see him as political material and took him to task in reference to Mowry's numerous fish statements. As a result he printed the following: "There is only one kind of fish that has yet been discovered in the streams of the Territory . . . and it is about as long as a man's finger and generally known as the Mowry Trout!"

Being called a liar, even in vague language, was something Sylvester Mowry would not tolerate. He challenged Cross to a duel. Having to save face with his readers, Cross accepted. It was to take place July 8, 1859 near Tubac. Mowry decided on the weapons to be used—Burnside rifles at 40 paces.

AT THE MOVIES

We Still Need 'Big Brother' Awhile

Editor's Note: The following letter was addressed to "My Fellow Taxpayers."

For the past several weeks my wife and I have been attending coffee hours for candidates for council of our proposed city or town. At this time I am not totally convinced on incorporation.

Being permanent residents for 19 years plus—and taxpayers since 1957—we have been through several incorporation attempts, the first in 1966 (not 10 years ago).

In listening to the candidates, the financial figures are very confusing. For instance, Boyd Lemmon claims the city or town will have a $600,000 surplus after the first year. With his background in finances I believe he is qualified to say this. His goals for our area sound great. But is there anything for free in this world?

At the present time the economy of our village is almost rock bottom. Since 1982 our schools have lost a net of 180-plus students. The closure of small businesses and bankruptcies has been many. Our population has decreased tremendously. At least 60 to 70 percent of the real estate offices have closed their doors. In 1980-81 it was hard to find a "for rent" ad in our local newspapers. Today there are several pages of them, along with about 1,000 unsold realty listings.

In the early '60s we had about nine miles of roads to maintain; now we have upwards to 70 miles. I would estimate about 80 percent need complete rebuilding. That $600,000 surplus may solve about 10 percent of this problem.

Some of the candidates believe that the newly proposed Juniper Ridge project will be a real boon to the village. Juniper Ridge proposes a hotel/convention center of 326 rooms, 330 condominiums and 14,000 square feet of commercial space. In this 14,000 square feet I can visualize their own sport shops, restaurants, etc. as in other planned hotels I have visited. For the new city—some tax money, but to the small shop owners?

What is going to be the cost to you and me, the established taxpayers, for fire protection to this high-rise project—a new fire station, larger ladder trucks, a couple million dollars maybe?

And our water district seems to have sufficient water at the present, but what about our problems of sewage disposal? After all we still have existing residences in our community that are not connected to the sewer as far back as the late '60s or early '70s.

What is going to be the cost to the taxpayers for land for a city hall, office buildings, city manager salary, clerks, secretaries, typewriters, files, council salaries, transportation, furniture, office supplies, insurance, etc. etc. I think the $600,000 went with etc.

These are only a few of the financial headaches to think about. A few other items that have been brought up at coffee hours are the following services required (and must be funded): building department, sheriff protection, planning commission, free transportation system, and airport expansion.

I cannot truthfully say I am against incorporation in the future. In our present economic slump I just cannot see it as profitable.

I still believe we need Big Brother (the county) for awhile longer.

Sheriffs Support Proposition 16

Dear Editor:

Justification for expenditures of funds for the improvement of county jails has historically been unpopular with many of us, and these are real issues. We understand the feelings, but it is not just the inmates who suffer the consequences. Overcrowded jails mean a greater number of incidents in which staff and inmates may be hurt. Ultimately, it is the taxpayer who will pay the bill.

Overcrowded jails are a target for court suits which, in several counties, have resulted in orders to release inmates and/or to provide costly emergency housing. In seven counties (Alameda, Mendocino, Riverside, Sacramento, San Diego, Santa Clara, and Sonoma) the court has ordered a ceiling on the number of inmates in the jail. That means one of two things: They must either release inmates over the court ceiling; or they have to find other places to keep them. To find other places to keep them is costly to the taxpayers, and it can jeopardize their safety if the alternative is not a secure facility like the county jail. Court orders also mean that we may be required to spend money on costly, short-term solutions that we do not want to get into. We are better off making our own decisions and spending money on solutions, not court-ordered band-aids.

Inyo and Mono counties deserve to maintain a constitutional jail. It does us no good to increase penalties for crimes if we have no place to keep the criminals.

We are in a jail crisis in the state and in our counties. If our citizens want to make penalties for crime stiffer—and we think they do—then we must provide the space to do so. Therefore, we are urging our voters to pass Proposition 16.

While Proposition 2 provided Inyo and Mono counties with $1 million, we think it is important that our citizens vote to approve Proposition 16 because what occurs in our neighboring counties will affect our crime rates. Crime is a statewide issue because we are so mobile. We cannot take the attitude that "now that we got ours (Proposition 2), the job is done." The job is less than half done, and that is why we are supporting Proposition 16 and urge the voters to do so.

Quality Inn Gets Conditional Approval from DRA

Cabin to Match Rest of Inn; Plans Due in Two Weeks

by Ziba Rashidian

The Mammoth Lakes Design Review Authority conditionally approved the proposed Quality Inn hotel project after months of haggling over architectural changes.

At last week's DRA meeting, hotel developer Roger Parsons of Bishop proposed revisions to the multi-unit hotel which will be built behind the Lindal Homes cabin off Hwy. 203. According to DRA member Greg Newbry, the developer will return to the DRA in two weeks with drawings of the modifications to the cabin outlined at the meeting.

These modifications include changes in the Lindal cabin roof line to make it similar to the proposed inn, the addition of a balcony and landscaping around the cabin.

Since April, the DRA and Parsons have been at odds over the design of the building and Parsons' desire to keep the Lindal cabin in place. Parsons has argued that retaining the cabin would alleviate visual problems with the proposed motel. The developer has described the inn as a long "barracks-like building" stretching 250 feet across the parcel. Parsons said the cabin would break up the visual impact of the multi-unit motel.

The DRA conditions require Parsons to modify the architectural style of the Lindal cabin to blend with the more modern flavor of the proposed inn.

When the DRA first conditionally approved the project in late March, it granted the approval subject to the Lindal Homes cabin not remaining on the site. Parsons then appealed the issue to the board of supervisors in April. Supervisors ruled that the DRA may have exceeded its authority in requiring removal of the existing structure. The board sent the issue back to the DRA for further discussions with Parsons.

Also discussed at last week's DRA meeting were changes to the controversial sign ordinance.

According to Newbry, the DRA hopes to have a draft of the revised ordinance prepared for discussion by its next meeting, Wednesday, June 13.

Suggested changes include:

- Changing the square footage limit from 40 square feet to a formula of one square foot for every 46 lineal feet of "domineering project line." Newbry said a ceiling would be placed on the maximum square footage allowed. He estimated that maximum would be between 65 and 85 square feet.
- Clarification of the prohibitions on vehicle-mounted signs.
- Removing the clause outlawing institutionalized signs. Newbry said this was prompted since some institutionalized signs may fit the criteria of the ordinance.
- Changing the maximum sign height in areas along Hwy. 203 which become snowbound. Several businesses along the state highway have complained that CalTrans' plowing practices result in their businesses not being visible from Hwy. 203.

The DRA also plans to add several new sections to the sign ordinance. Newbry said there is proposed language establishing maintenance requirements on all signs.

Another area not addressed before is the question of window advertising. Newbry said the DRA is considering requiring a limit on the percentage which can be used to post advertising on any one window. Present percentages range from 20 percent to 50 percent.

The DRA is also considering outlawing flyers in the community, such as those placed on car windshields.

There will also be changes for signs in residential areas. Newbry said the present 40 square-foot limitation applies to both commercial and residential areas. The new ordinance would probably retain the limitation for residential areas, but allow a greater maximum in commercial districts.

The DRA is also considering the special problems of businesses located on corner lots, or those businesses with streets on two sides of the structure. He said the proposed ordinance would allow two signs for such businesses, once facing each street. He said the DRA has not decided whether the maximum square footage allowed for such businesses should be divided between the two signs or whether some other ceiling should be applied.

Also being added to the ordinance is a section on penalties for violators, a section outlining the owner's liability for removal of a nonconforming sign and specific lists of exemptions.

Newbry said the DRA hopes to get a lot of public input on the revised ordinance so that it can be honed to represent "what the community wants."

The revision of the sign ordinance was prompted by a public furor last April when the DRA cited over 30 businesses for violations of the ordinance. The issue went to the board of supervisors which granted the cited businesses a 90-day amnesty period pending revisions of the sign ordinance.

Second-Hand Smoke Seen As Health Danger

Hard evidence is mounting that the health of nonsmokers is endangered by inhalation of "second-hand" smoke from other people's cigarettes.

"These relatively new studies confirm what scientific common sense suggests. Since the side-stream smoke from the burning end of a cigarette contains the same toxins that the smoker inhales, these toxins affect nonsmokers who breathe them," Dr. Stanton A. Glantz writes in California Medical Association's Western Journal of Medicine for April. He is an associate professor of medicine and a member of the cardiovascular research institute at UC San Francisco.

He points to separate article in the Western Journal of Medicine by G.H. Miller, Ph.D., reporting that housewives with long-term exposure to second-hand smoke had twice as many cancer deaths as housewives with little exposure. Miller is director of Studies on Smoking in Edinboro, Pa.

Another Cocaine Suspect Pleads Guilty to Possession

by Ziba Rashidian

A second Mammoth resident, arrested in the April cocaine crackdown, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge this week.

According to Deputy District Attorney Stan Eller, 21-year-old David Quinn pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of possession of a non-narcotic controlled substance this week. Quinn was placed on two year's summary probation, fined $192 and will be required to attend a counseling program.

This is the second plea to a reduced charge agreed to by the district attorney's office. Last week, Sandra Mitchell, 24, entered a guilty plea to the same charge and received the same sentence.

Eller said the pleas were agreed to by the department due to the degree of involvement of the two suspects. Eller said in the case of Quinn, evidence indicated a "very slight involvement, no evidence of larger dealings" and that this sale to Gibney was a one-time sale.

The remaining 16 suspects arrested in the April 10-13 drug enforcement sweep are scheduled for preliminary hearings in Mammoth Justice Court in the next two weeks. All of the suspects were originally charged with the three felony counts of possession of cocaine, possession of cocaine for sale and sale of cocaine.

The arrests in April culminated a six-month undercover investigation by the Mono Sheriff's Department. A newly hired deputy sheriff, Suzanne Gibney, went undercover for a six-month period making several thousand dollars worth of cocaine purchases. Gibney is now taking up regular deputy duties in the department.

Paul Johnson, Glenn Thompson Face Local Voters

by Nicholas Renton

Incumbent Paul Johnson and challenger Glenn Thompson—combatants for the District 3 seat on the Mono County Board of Supervisors—confronted Mammoth voters at the Mammoth Lakes Chamber of Commerce's candidates' night, May 29.

It was the second face-off between the two June

Lake residents before the district's voters in a week; Johnson and Thompson squared off at a June Lake gathering May 22.

Johnson, who represents Old Mammoth, June Lake, Lee Vining and Mono City, began his remarks with a recitation of his achievements in both the public and private sectors, later giving an outline of his future plans.

"We are on the threshold of a new era in Mono County history," Johnson said. "It will be a period of exciting changes and frustration, a period that will require experience—and above all—continuity in the transfer of administration of county government to city government."

Jury Awards $38,000 to Mammoth Lakes Couple

Case Involves Diversion Of Construction Funds

In the latest of a series of court cases involving diversion of funds by contractors, a Mono County jury awarded plaintiffs James and Carol Bennett in excess of $38,000 against the Bank of America.

The Bennetts, represented by local attorney Mike Ross of Ross & Baumwohl, filed suit against the Bank of America in 1981 claiming that the bank had been negligent in investigating the background of their contractor, Edward Mazur, in connection with the approval of their construction loan with the bank. They also claimed that the bank was negligent in its procedures for disbursing funds and conducting progress inspections before each periodic disbursement was made to the contractor.

The Bennetts applied for a construction loan with the bank in the spring of 1979 in order to build a log home in the Aspen Springs Ranch area. Their contractor, Mazur, was unknown to them prior to this transaction and was also unknown to the bank. The bank led the Bennetts to believe that it would investigate their contractor's background as to his professional abilities and financial position and would not approve him as their contractor if such investigation revealed any problems. The Bennetts' loan was approved with Mazur as contractor, and no information was communicated to the Bennetts that Mazur was not acceptable either professionally or financially. Later investigation revealed that Mazur had started only one other log home before the Bennetts', which was yet to be completed.

After the construction loan was approved, the Bennetts signed the standard bank loan documents. The evidence at trial indicated that no one at the bank ever reviewed the actual loan documents with the Bennetts before they signed them, even though some documents sought to release or limit the bank's liability in disbursing the Bennetts' loan funds.

After loan documents were signed, the bank established a checking account at the Mammoth branch of the bank into which the periodically disbursed funds were deposited. Neither of the Bennetts was made a signatory on this checking account, however, and they therefore had no knowledge as to how or whether such funds were paid to the people supplying labor and material in building the log home. In fact, the bank permitted Henry Mazur, the brother of Edward Mazur, to be added as an authorized signatory on this checking account. Henry Mazur had no contractual or other relationship with the Bennetts or the bank.

After Edward Mazur began construction of the Bennetts' log home, it was discovered that many checks written by the Mazurs appeared to have nothing to do with the payment of the construction costs. The bank thereafter required Carol Bennett to sign all checks, but the Mazurs soon abandoned the project with much of the construction remaining to be done.

The bank then engaged the services of a local contractor to continue construction with the remaining funds. It was quickly determined, however, that because of substantial misappropriation of funds by the Mazurs, additional monies would be needed to complete the project. The evidence at trial also showed that the bank's inspector approved funds for disbursement requested by Edward Mazur for work or materials which had not been performed or supplied, at least to the extent claimed by the contractor. This resulted in the contractor's gaining control over more funds than he was entitled to, and therefore he was able to divert substantial funds to his personal use.

The jury trial lasted for approximately six days. The jury awarded damages to the Bennetts and against the bank for approximately $51,000, but then reduced these damages by 25 percent finding that the Bennetts had contributed to their damages in this proportion.

"We need to stimulate tourism particularly during our slack periods and to develop new reasons for people to come to Mono County," continued Johnson. "To that end I will be suggesting a county department of tourism or a convention bureau."

Thompson opened his speech with a criticism of current county operations, including planning. "The general plan update is poorly handled and continually delayed. Public participation has been minimal, the use of consultants a waste of money," Thompson said.

Thompson also criticized Johnson. "If I become supervisor, you will not have to beg to be heard or wonder whom I work for," said Thompson. "Paul Johnson has done a bad job. He hasn't done the job for the public. He doesn't seem to have a belief in their ability to know what's right for them and make good judgments about their future."

Johnson came out squarely against June Lake's incorporation, saying June Lake lacked the solid financial base for cityhood. Thompson got a laugh from the audience of 90 by admitting he had been trying "to avoid that issue for six months." Nonetheless, he said he felt it would be a poor idea at this time, but hoped June Lake would try again when it had more secure sources of revenue.

Asked for their perception of the fairness of the 40 percent of county services given Mammoth after the community provides 67 percent of county revenue (figures touted by Mammoth incorporation proponents), Johnson—who disputed the exactitude of the figures—said that Mammoth received "a reasonable, not a fair" share of county services. Thompson said Mammoth's share was a problem "that needs to be dealt with."

Both candidates were confident of a victory Tuesday, June 5.

"I hope so, I think so," answered Thompson of his chances of winning. "I think I have a belief in a lot of public involvement, contact and communication. That's the sort of thing I'd like to see happen that doesn't happen in that district."

Johnson saw victory on election day, too. "I feel very confident," said the incumbent. "I think I've got major support in the areas where it counts. I think my past record has been pretty clear-cut, with no major controversial issues. I think I understand the county's problems. A lot of them we can't resolve, but at least I can give an honest try."

Thomas Henry, MUSD's superintendent, praised the efforts of Mammoth's lawmakers. "We're pleased with the help from Cranston's and Lehman's offices," said Henry. "We're ready to start on escrow and the bidding process, hopefully within the week. The trip to Washington was well worth it, and obviously very successful."

Dan Perry, a press officer for Cranston, said the senator had been dealing with the district's school effort since 1980, when an earthquake destroyed it. Cranston also considered the lower appraisal's acceptance a breakthrough in the four-year effort to convey the land to Mammoth.

Watkins also denied advocating a sales tax increase. She said she would not favor such an increase until the council has developed its budget, set priorities and decided what programs to implement. She said such an increase would only be a possibility if the voters wanted it.

Brief statements were given by all nine of the candidates. Highlights included:

- Campbell stressed the need to bolster the local economy. She endorsed marketing the community to bring more tourist dollars into the economy. She supported the proposed hotel/convention center, noting that the project could bring about $350,000 a year in bed taxes into the town's coffers. She said priorities for the council should include development of a transportation system, improved roads and street signing, affordable housing and recreational activities within the community for the area's youth as well as visitors.

- Flynn stressed his wide range of experience in local civic organizations and government committees, including his present position on Governor Deukmejian's advisory council. He said one of the major problems facing the community is stabilizing and diversifying the local economy. He said the community needs to develop permanent year-round employment for residents so that "families can grow with the community." Other issues he would like to see addressed include development of a transit system, road signing, development of the resort association and expansion of the airport facilities and airline services.

- The need for financial stability and planned growth were the keynotes of Gardner's presentation. Gardner said the council will have to plan the use of its revenues carefully to avoid the need for tax increases. He also outlined his position on growth in the community. "Current figures tell us there are at present too many empty businesses and condo units. Growth should be considered on a foundation of thoughtful planning with the results to benefit the community not just a few," he said. The candidate said he also favors development of a transit system, more recreational facilities and the economic benefits that may come from development of Juniper Ridge.

- Development of the resort association, hiring a professional staff, improving roads and transportation and expanding service at the Mammoth/June Lakes Airport are issues Lemmon said he would see addressed if he is elected to the council. Lemmon noted that the resort association would enable the community to "get its fair share and more of the skiers and summer vacationers the other major resorts are now so aggressively going after." Lemmon said he would also "do everything possible to ensure Mammoth Airport having a regularly scheduled airline service."

- Helen Thompson, who moderated the evening, read Medina's prepared statement. Stabilizing the local economy, providing a better living environment for local residents, a tight hold on the town's purse strings and recreational activities for the community's youth were listed as priority issues in the candidate's statement. "My emphasis is not as much on growth as it is on favoring and encouraging those projects and ideas that will enable persons already residing here to achieve a healthy standard of living and keep their businesses open," she said.

- Newbry also emphasized the need to improve the local economy. He suggested that the Juniper Ridge project, development of a resort association to market the community and finding solutions to the community's transportation and road problems could alleviate the economic hard times being faced by the community. Newbry also favors development of a secondary ski area in the community if demand increases. "We live in a system of supply and demand. If demand is for more available ski areas, then more ski areas will be developed. It makes environmental and economical sense to keep development where development is. Thus I support the concept of Sherwin Bowl and San Joaquin Ridge should the need be evident," he said.

- Paust questioned how the projects that seem to come on the coattails of incorporation will be funded. "There's all this talk of a mass transit system and the resort association. Yes, I'd like to see those come into town but I really think we don't have the money to pay for that yet," he said. He stressed the need for the council to proceed cautiously in spending its money. He said he supported the concept of a resort association and marketing the community. "We are competing for the same tourist dollars as Vail and Tahoe," he said.

- "There isn't a whole lot of difference among the nine council candidates. We're pretty much in agreement," Saari told the audience. "But that means the council can be a cohesive unit and one that can represent you." With that preface, Saari did outline his position on several issues. "The No. 1 issue is the economy. It is an overriding issue. Improving the economy will help every individual [in the community] and will strengthen the town council." He also addressed the stalemates with the Meridian and Minaret extensions and the need to resolve the funding and legal issues surrounding the dead-end roads.

- The need to promote the town and to aggressively compete with other resort areas were issues Watkins felt needed to be addressed. She said she favors the resort association. The candidate also said she would like to see the city develop recreational facilities for the town's children, such as earmarking the Ridgeview site for a park. Watkins also stressed the need for fiscal restraint when the town first gets underway. She suggested that development of a transit system for the town is at least five years away based on pure economics. "Maybe we should let private enterprise take care of providing a shuttle service. We [the town council] have got to provide the basics."

Clarification on 'Vote Yes for Town'

A political ad currently running in this newspaper urges Mammoth voters to vote yes for "name of the town." This does not signify a name change for the community. Instead, it is a legal distinction on whether the incorporated entity should be called a "town" or a "city." A vote yes means Mammoth's official vehicles, for example, would bear the logo "Town of Mammoth Lakes," whereas their counterparts in Bishop read "City of Bishop."

Measure C deals with the name of the new city; LAFCo has proposed calling the new community the "town of Mammoth Lakes" instead of the "city of Mammoth Lakes." This is why the governing body of the community will be called a town council rather than a city council.

An appropriations limit for Mammoth would be set at $3.5 million by measure D. This complex measure, which must pass if incorporation is to take place, limits municipal expenditures from the town's general fund at $3.5 million. Incorporation proponents maintain D's passage would entail no increase in property taxes.

Even if Mammoth voters reject one or all four of the measures, they still have an opportunity to select up to five of the nine town council candidates: Barbara Campbell, Gary Flynn, Terry Gardner, Boyd Lemmon, Sandra Medina, Greg Newbry, Richard Paust, Roy Saari and Alice Watkins. The top two vote-getters will earn four-year terms, while the third-, fourth- and fifth-place candidates receive two-year stints in office.

In Old Mammoth, incumbent Paul Johnson and Glenn Thompson square off in the District 3 race for supervisor. Crowley voters in District 2 will be seeing Tim Alpers' name on the ballot for the second time in eight months. Alpers is running unopposed. Marguerite Ivey, John Malmquist, Edward Miltenburg and Cliff Sharp are going at it in the District 4 north county race.

In the State Assembly's 7th District, incumbent Norm Waters faces Joe Baker in the Democratic race, while Jim Head is running unopposed in the Republican contest. Republicans John Saunders III and Robert Slade will vie for the right to face unopposed State Senate majority leader John Garamendi in the November election for the Senate's 5th District seat.

Nine state measures—propositions 16-24—also face the voters. The most controversial is Proposition 24, which would lessen the partisan power of the speakership in the state assembly. Also called the Gann Initiative (after backer Paul Gann), Proposition 24 would in practice increase the power of the minority party (presently the Republicans), at the expense of the majority party (now the Democrats). Support for the measure has largely split along party lines, Republicans for and Democrats against.

Other propositions of interest to Mammoth voters are propositions 16 and 20. Proposition 16 provides money for construction and maintenance of county jails, and has been backed by Mono County Sheriff Lloyd Wilson. Proposition 20 is designed to halt the use of smear tactics just before election day—especially through "mailers" which lodge false accusations against an opponent. This measure would remove from office any candidate who wins a race through such libel or slander of an opponent.

Mammoth's congressman, Richard Lehman, is running unopposed, as is his Republican opponent, Dale Ewen, for California's 18th District seat in the House of Representatives. The state's Democrats will select delegates supporting either front-runner Walter Mondale, or challengers Gary Hart and Jesse Jackson for the presidency. Delegates for John Glenn and Lyndon La Rouché will also appear on the ballot. California's Republicans will see Ronald Reagan's name alone in their presidential preference contest.

will continue to receive reimbursement for snow removal costs from the state. The county will receive those reimbursements for three years after Mammoth incorporates. Those funds are estimated at $243,117. The county will not be responsible for snow removal services to Mammoth as of 1985-86; however, it will receive $302,016 after that date.

If Mono County weathers this year's fiscal crisis, it stands to reap political benefits as well. As one county official has remarked, Mammoth has represented a political albatross around the neck of a mostly rural county. Once it achieves its political independence, the county government can be tailored to answer the needs of its rural constituencies. The incorporation will lay to rest many of the political wars which have arisen as county government attempted to address the problems of its major urban area—Mammoth Lakes—and devoting fewer of its resources to less populated areas.

Braden will discuss the change in the appointment at the Tuesday, June 5, supervisors' meeting in Bridgeport.

Blumberg and McCarroll have already begun studying the proposed Juniper Ridge development agreement.

The two attorneys expressed concern with several apparent misconceptions by the public of the Juniper Ridge proposal.

"The main misconception is that somehow as soon as Juniper Ridge is approved, prosperity will be here," Blumberg said.

"If the proposed development agreement were totally approved today without change of any provision, the earliest that any actual construction could possibly start (according to the representatives of Senior Corp.) would be summer 1986," a fact sheet on the project prepared by Blumberg and McCarroll states.

The attorneys added that there is a possibility of pouring foundations in the fall of 1985 and construction of the Juniper Ridge road.

"In this case the owner does not intend to develop the land at all," Blumberg said Tuesday. "They intend to sell it in stages, a piece at a time, to one or more developers," he said. The attorney added that in a phone conversation with representatives of Senior Corp. Tuesday, the land bank's officials indicated they have no firm commitment from a developer for any part of the project, including the hotel/convention center.

Blumberg also outlined the function of development agreements. "What it does is to assure the landowner that the owners' overall plan for the develop-

David Holton Places in Top Five Percent

by Michele Hamada

David Holton, a 16-year-old junior at Mammoth High School, recently received a letter from the National Merit Scholarship Corp. regarding his Selection Index score on October 1983's PSAT/NMSQT test.

Holton placed among the top 5 percent—or 50,000—of more than 1.1 million students nationwide who entered the 1985 Merit Program. Holton's test performance also means that he will be considered for a Merit Scholarship in California. In order to be further considered in the Merit Program, Holton has to be one of the top scorers in the state. Only the top scorers in each state will continue in the 1985 competition for Merit scholarships. If he is one of the 15,000 semifinalists, he will be notified in September 1984.

"I wasn't expecting the high score on the PSAT," said Holton, "but now that I've gotten it, I think I have a better opportunity to get into some colleges that I may not have had the chance before."

Holton's PSAT/NMSQT scores are an indication of potential for higher academic attainment. For this reason, Holton has been offered a one-time college-plan reporting service that will be helpful in investigating the college opportunities available to him.

Dave has received letters from the University of California at Santa Barbara and Harvard regarding their summer school session provided for high school students. In addition, Holton has received letters from Michigan State, Oberlin and many other colleges concerning his future attendance after graduating next year.

"I want to go to either USC, Berkeley, UCSB or Pepperdine after graduating from high school," said Holton of his future plans.

Holton is also involved in many extracurricular activities at Mammoth High. He is a member of the MHS jazz band and was a member of the cross country ski team. Holton is also an avid basketball and tennis player.

When asked what his future goal is, Holton stated, "I want to be a performing musician." Whatever he ends up doing, he will certainly be successful.

Seven Mammoth Sluggers Earn All-DIL Recognition; Five Gain First-League

by Nicholas Renton

Seven Mammoth High baseball players earned Desert-Inyo League honors last week, five of them gaining first-team all-league status.

Junior outfielder Dave Bates, senior designated hitter Mike Johnston, senior second baseman Mark Ladinig, senior shortstop Tony Rhymes and sophomore catcher Mark Rowan all made the DIL's first team, while senior outfielder Dan Austin and senior pitcher Jim Engelman received honorable mention.

Ladinig, the surest bet for post-season honors, earned first-team recognition for the third straight year, batted an even .500 for the year, and led the Huskies in stolen bases (21) and triples (four).

Rhymes, the Huskies' leadoff hitter, batted .422 and led the Huskies in runs (25) and walks (18). Rowan batted .328, led Mammoth in RBIs (18), and in one game against Bishop May 1, threw out four Bronco base-runners.

Johnston tied with Rowan for the team lead in homers with two, while batting .250 in the Huskies' cleanup spot. Bates hit at a .220 clip while playing a spirited left field for the Huskies.

Engelman, the workhorse of the Huskie pitching staff, threw 66 innings on the way to a 4.05 ERA and 74 strikeouts. Austin, who earned first-team DIL status in 1983, batted .218 in a season where he battled a slow start.

McDonald's Breakfast Brings in More Than $500 For Summer Sports Camps

by Nicholas Renton

More than $500 was raised by the Mammoth High School athletic department at the McDonald's hotcake breakfast, Saturday, May 26.

The money will help send members of Huskie girls squads to summer camps at Lake Tahoe, Santa Barbara and San Diego to improve their skills in cheerleading, volleyball and basketball.

Students sold $.89 tickets good for one purchase of hotcakes from McDonald's of Mammoth, which then donated all proceeds to the MHS athletic department. Students assisting in the fund-raiser were Katie DeVore, Shelby Henzie, Lisa Hungerford, April Nielsen and Lorrie Schneider.

Rick Naranjo, MHS' athletic director, said that McDonald's usually sold two batches of hotcakes per day, but the benefit Saturday required 15 batches—almost eight times as much. "On behalf of the MHS athletic department, I'd like to thank Bill and Mike Andres and the McDonald's staff for the pancake breakfast program," said Naranjo. "This type of community involvement helps our athletes get to these camps."

This was the first year that McDonald's offered the pancake program. The fast-food restaurant opened its doors in Mammoth in December of last year.

PARCEL NUMBERING SYSTEM EXPLANATION

The Assessor's Parcel Number, when used to describe property in this list, refers to the assessor's map book, the map page, the block on the map, if applicable, and to the individual parcel number on the map page or in the block. A parcel number, such as 35-172-07, would be analyzed as follows: 35 would be the map book number, 172 would be map page 17, and block 2 on that page (if "2" was instead a "0", then that page would not contain a block); 07 is the parcel number within block 2 on map page 17. In the case of condominiums and planned developments, the third segment of the parcel number indicates the common area and the fourth segment indicates the actual parcel number. The maps referred to are available for inspection in the office of the assessor. The real property to be deeded and the subject of this Notice are situated in the County of Mono, State of California, and is described as follows, to-wit:

Copies of these documents may be obtained by contacting the office of the Director of Public Works, P.O. Box 457, Bridgeport, CA 93517, (619) 932-7911, Ext. 252. Each bid shall be made on the bid form contained in the contract documents and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bidder's bond in the amount of ten percent (10%) of the bid made payable to the order of the County of Mono, and shall be sealed and filed with the bid proposal. Any bid received after the time specified herein will be returned to the bidder unopened. The above-mentioned bid security shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work, and shall be forfeited by the bidder and retained by the county if the bidder refuses, neglects or fails to enter into said contract or to furnish the necessary bonds after being requested to do so by the county. JUNIPER RIDGE... From Page 14 ment of a project is approved," he said. "In this way the landowner can go ahead with the overall project with the assurance that it has all been approved subject only to complying with the usual requirements of getting building permits [and other permits]."

According to Blumberg the benefit for the community of a development agreement lies in the requirements that can be imposed on the project such as contributions of property, services or money to the community.

In the case of Juniper Ridge, the development agreement is proposed to cover a 20-year period, giving Senior Corp. that span of time to market the proposal to potential developers. Community contributions range from the donation of the 135-acre airport parcel to the county, donation of a 10-acre school site to the Mammoth Unified School District and a $150,000 cash contribution. The proposal also includes the trade of land to the Forest Service for the Chair 15 base lodge.

The development agreement also locks in the densities for the project. Yet to be hammered out is a dispute between the county planning department and Senior Corp. over the densities for the parcel. The sixth draft of the development agreement calls for a density of 566 units, with Senior Corp. having the right to sell or transfer 86 of those rights for construction from the Juniper Ridge site to some other location in Mammoth Lakes.

copy of the prevailing rate of per diem wages is on file at the office of the Director of Public Works, Bridgeport, Calif., which shall be made available for review by any interested party upon request.

On the day of the duel a large gallery had gathered. Gambling ran rampant through the crowd, with last-minute bets running high as to the outcome. Then, an eerie hush fell across the spectators as the two men entered the field and, back to back, prepared for a day of death. At a given signal, they slowly separated, treaded the required 40 long paces, turned and fired. However, since neither of the two was an experienced marksman, the first three shots went wild, one of which whizzed over a group of spectators, causing them to dive out of the way. On the fourth shot, Mowry's rifle failed to fire. As a result, it was decided that he was entitled to a free shot. Editor Cross, the target, stood with his arms boldly folded as Mowry took aim. However since shooting an unarmed man was considered terrible sportsmanship, Mowry gallantly discharged his rifle in the air, shook hands with Cross and declared himself satisfied. But apparently Cross wasn't.

With the start of the Civil War, Cross published numerous vicious rumors against Mowry. One of these wrongfully labeled him as a Confederate sympathizer who was providing the South with lead for ammunition from his mine. On June 8, 1862, he was arrested under orders from Gen. James H. Carleton on charges of treason against the United States government. Sent to Fort Yuma, he was confined as a prisoner of war and all of his property confiscated, including the rich Mowry Mine which had been producing $1,000 a day in silver.

On Nov. 4, 1862, having found no evidence against him, the government released Mowry unconditionally from prison. But despite numerous lawsuits, he was never able to regain his property. He died penniless and broken from Wright's Syndrome at the age of 39 on Oct. 25, 1871 in England.

In spite of the poverty and injustice suffered by its founder, Mowry City had actually prospered and boomed during his confinement and death. Substantial buildings were constructed, as noisy fortune seekers crowded the streets. But then, as with so many other boom towns of the Old West, the rich silver ore began to dwindle. One by one, the citizens drifted away, leaving Mowry City an empty shell of its former glory by 1918.

Mowry saw its most recent activity only several months ago. It was then that a group of what appeared to be para-military mercenaries converged on the old town for field training. And while their origin, ultimate purpose or mission is still unclear, the results of their efforts still remain. After constructing "enemy" bunkers from historic buildings, they made their attack. Several concerned witnesses, drawn by the gunfire, watched from a safe distance as dozens of men in Army fatigues stormed old structures, machine gunning imaginary forces. Bullets straffed fragile plaster from walls and boots ripped historic adobe sills from doorways as they rushed the "enemy." Then, after they had done about as much damage as anyone could, they departed, leaving permanent deep scars on Mowry.

But in spite of such deliberate and thoughtless vandalism a great deal still remains at Mowry City. Foundations and buildings frame Main Street. Numerous tailings and mines dot her lush hillsides. The little town cemetery, long abandoned, remains tranquil and picturesque. Mowry is a fascinating place to visit and explore in the Patagonia Mountains.

Directions to Mowry: Take the dirt road south from the small town of Patagonia in southern Arizona. Local inquiry will instruct you as to the correct turnoff. Although the road is rough in some sections, the trip can be completed with any vehicle. There are no services along the route, so be sure to take along ample drinking water, food and plenty of film. Until recently there was a sign marking Mowry's location, but vandals have removed it. So keep a close watch on your speedometer. Fourteen miles south of Patagonia is a lush meadow, turning left at this location will bring you to Mowry.

Like Mono County, Arizona has numerous ghost towns and historic sites. If you're planning on a vacation there, some reference books could make the trip even more rewarding. Some of them are: "Ghost Towns of Arizona," James & Barbara Sherman, University of Oklahoma Press, 1978; "Arizona's Best Ghost Towns," Philip Varney, Northland Press, 1980; "Arizona Ghost Towns," Lambert Florin, Superior Publishing Co., Seattle, 1971; "Historical Atlas of Arizona," Henry P. Walker, Don Bufkin, University of Oklahoma Press, 1971; "The Earps Talk," Alford E. Turner, Creative Publishing Co., 1980; "Arizona," Marshall Trimble, Doubleday, 1977; "Arizona Place Names," Will C.

Barnes, University of Arizona Press, 1979; "I Married Wyatt Earp," Josephine Earp/Glenn G. Boyer, University of Arizona Press, 1979; "Vanished Arizona," Martha Summerhayes, University of Nebraska Press.

Memorial Holiday Accident Mars Families' Vacations At June Lake's Oh! Ridge

by Mike Yorkey

The Memorial Holiday weekend ended unhappily for two Southern California families on Monday when their cars collided on the road to the Oh! Ridge campground just outside June Lake.

A California Highway Patrol spokesman said a Chevy van driven by Man Sook Ro of Van Nuys was driving on the wrong side of the road when it struck a Toyota 4WD driven by Larry Ballance of La Canada. Ballance said he tried to swerve onto the dirt shoulder, but the van followed him.

Fortunately, said the CHP, the cars struck each other at a slow speed. As it was, the seven in the Ro van and the three Ballances suffered moderate to minor injuries. The only person requiring hospitalization was Sun Han Kim.

Haeyoun Ro, the husband of the driver, was interviewed at Mammoth Hospital Monday afternoon. He said his family came to the United States from South Korea four years ago. It was their first time to the Eastern Sierra.

Ro's two children were also in the van, Gun Mi and Gun Kyung. Two other friends, Chi U Yi and M Yi, were also in the van and received minor injuries.

The Ballance family, Larry, Nancy and son Patrick, were treated for lacerations, bruises and cuts at Mammoth Hospital. Ballance said his car was totaled in the accident.

John Travolta, Jamie Lee Curtis and the film crew of "Perfect" left Mammoth a day early last week because things went so well. The cast and crew were originally scheduled to film scenes on Friday, but the shots went so smoothly that the Mammoth "shoot" was a wrap Thursday afternoon. John was itching to ski all week long, but the director—and the insurance company—said no. Travolta and Curtis dined at Roget's a couple of times. One person connected with the film said Roget's became Travolta's favorite restaurant. He also liked the Mammoth Boulangerie a great deal, returning there as well. Probably three to five minutes of the film will consist of the Mammoth scenes, said a spokesperson. There is even some talk of the cast and crew returning to the Snowcreek Athletic Club for some of the aerobic dance scenes. All the talk is speculative, but if the crew does come back, Mammoth will be featured prominently in the movie.

Some Mammoth locals picked up some Hollywood cash for "doubling" in the Travolta movie last week. Stacey Tracy and Jim Merrins were doubles. Stacey and another person were filmed in a car going up Lake Mary Road to . . . Mammoth Mountain! That's Hollywood. In all, 110 locals were hired as extras to ski in the background. One Mammoth local, however, got a bit part. Jim Vanko of Mammoth Mountain played an FBI man during the Mammoth shoot, and he may get asked back for later in the movie when filming is completed in Los Angeles.

Keep an eye out for an exciting gourmet and wine-tasting treat par excellence coming up at the Altitude 9000. Manager Ron Smith is organizing six "meet the winemaker" gourmet meals. The first one is Tuesday, June 19. Winemakers from the Acacia and Jordan wineries will provide and comment on seven different wines that will accompany seven different courses. Sounds like culinary heaven! For more details, call the Altitude 9000.

I heard that Mammoth water skiers kicked off their season with a trip to the Lahontan lake in Nevada during the Memorial Day holiday. Rodger Guffey, Nipper Larson, Don Dewey and Ken Coulter were all there. The Lahontan trip is an annual affair that begins the waterskiing season. Waterskiing is not allowed at Crowley Lake for a few more weeks.

Julie Findley, above, won the Head fast serve contest at Snowcreek last weekend. She was timed at 93 mph by the radar gun belonging to Head rep Stu Hanson, right. The Channel 5 film crew looked on. Men's winner was Peter Takh (103 mph), a Chart House employee. On Saturday, Dennis Phillips served a ball at 107 mph.

On their recent vacation in the Caribbean, Mark "Sparky" Myers popped the question to girlfriend Lynn Hudson. She replied in an affirmative nature, and now the plans call for a February wedding, possibly in Merced, near Lynn's hometown. Congratulations and best wishes to both of them.

Heard about the girl at Convict Lake who everybody thought was spearfishing? It turns out she only had a magnet on the end of her pole. With the magnet, she picked up a lure, attached to which was a live fish, the biggest of the day.

That was quite a crowd last week at the Arrowhead Savings grand opening. There were lots of good eats and drinks, but the highlight was the entertainment by the Mammoth Barbershoppers. Singing up a storm were Walter Buchanan, Phil Hamilton, Bob Stanford, Bill Melton and Nicholas Renton. It was nice to see Arrowhead introduce itself to Mammoth in such a nice way, and it's always nice to hear those barbershop classics.

Kathy Robinson, the ladies' V.C. champ, was waiting on a film-type group at Fat Albert's Saturday morning when she overheard the group discussing the need for a few skiers to help wrap up their film shoot. Kathy quickly volunteered her services, and the last we heard was that she was to meet the group at noon on the hill. No word yet if this was part of the Travolta film crew.

Get ready for the sequel to "frisbee madness," the first restaurant challenge that was staged last year. On Wednesday, June 20, in the parking lot of The Rafter and Ocean Harvest, a team event will take place. All I know at this time is that any business in town, not just restaurants, can enter four-person teams in some sort of race, with a fifth person to help with officiating. Costumes to fit with the theme of the event will liven up the action. A tennis tourney at the Sierra Nevada Inn courts will also be held as part of the second Mammoth Restaurant Challenge. More details will follow soon.

The above sign, posted in Yosemite Valley, reminds cyclists that California law classifies bicycles as vehicles; hence, bicycles must travel on the same side of the road and in the same direction as cars and trucks.

An unfortunate incident over the Memorial Day weekend makes me want to get on my soap box. A cyclist was turning left off Old Mammoth Road beside Ocean Harvest restaurant when he suddenly confronted another cyclist traveling on the wrong side of the street. In order to avoid a possible collision, the first cyclist hit his brakes. There was loose gravel, however, and he was thrown over the handle bars. Fortunately, he was not seriously hurt and the cyclist in error assisted him. The California Driver's Handbook states: "Bicycle riders must: Ride WITH traffic—only persons walking on the roadway face traffic."

Several Mammoth couples will have memories of the 1984 Memorial Day after having babies last weekend. Bill and Patty Ralston had their first child, Breanna, an 8-pound, 2-ounce girl born Saturday, May 26 at 2:30 a.m. It was the third girl at Mammoth Hospital during May. Hospital nurses are betting whether Gary and Karilyn Meyers, who are due the end of June, will break the girl deadlock. Another girl was born to the proud parents of Sue and Kevin Martin. They had their first child, Hayley Brooke, on Friday, May 25 at Northern Inyo Hospital in Bishop. Hayley Brooke weighed 6 pounds, 12 ounces. Both Patty Ralston and Sue Martin had short labors, thankfully. Kevin and Sue have worked at the Cask, 'n Cleaver for the past five years.

Congratulations are also in order for Tony and Jill Romo, who had their second child early Wednesday. It was a preview of the Indy 500 for Tony, who sped down the Sherwin Grade at 100 mph to reach the hospital in Bishop in time. The Romos arrived at 2:10 a.m., Jill was in her bed at 2:20, and voila, Rochelle Suzanne was born 10 minutes later. Tony is the assistant controller at Mammoth Mountain. They also have a son, Benjamin, 2.

Congratulations to former 1978 MHS graduate Pat Cannon. He will graduate from UCSB in June with a B.A. in pharmacology and then enter the USC School of Pharmacy doctoral program in September. Pat was MHS varsity volleyball captain in 1978 and a member of the Mammoth High ski team which represented the U.S. in the International High School Championships in Cortina, Italy. In May, Martin Breum a MHS foreign exchange student in 1977, attended a party hosted by Pat in his home in Santa Monica. Breum is now a journalist in Copenhagen and is in the U.S. on an assignment to cover the presidential campaigns. Also attending the party were former Mammoth classmates Bill Shuken and Christy Walchi.

John Knappen is back in town after being away for surgery. He will continue to convalesce in Mammoth. John and his wife Flo own the Mammoth Day Care Center. Welcome back, John, and please get well.

A special hats off to Mrs. Messinger, the teacher of the first-grade class at Mammoth Elementary. Mrs. Messinger is putting on a luau for all the children after they completed a study on Hawaii. The huge feast takes place next week. Sounds yummy!
